

Student Wellbeing Booklet

Dear Parents/Guardians

I'm delighted to be able to send you to our first 'Student Wellbeing' Booklet. As a school we sent out a survey before Christmas asking parents what areas of school and young peoples' lives they would like further support and resources on. One of the top requests was Student Wellbeing and Societal issues and we intend this to be one of a number of booklets that we will release to help parents and students navigate their way through secondary school and growing up.

We have also this year set up the parent engagement group (PEG) and I would like to thank them, along with governors and senior staff, for their time and significant contribution in shaping the content and structure of the booklet. The work in school has been coordinated by Mr Cordwell - Assistant Headteacher of Wellbeing and Mr Goldberg, Head of Franklin House. Through a series of virtual meetings and feedback on draft versions we have produced a final document that I believe all parents will find useful in supporting their children and having conversations around some of the critical wellbeing issues facing them at this time and as they grow up.

Yours sincerely

Mr Whitehead
